Legislature to Be Asked to Approve New Highway System

Premier Tolmie Announces Creation of Arterial Highways Adjacent to Populous Centres; Municipalities To Be Relieved of All Costs of Trunk Roads Used by Through Traffic; Government Will Spend $500,000 in Saanich in Next Few Years.

Legislative authority for creation of a new highway classification, and expenditure of millions of dollars on new highway construction and maintenance in rural municipalities, in all parts of British Columbia affected by through traffic, will be sought by the Tolmie Government at the next session of the Legislature. Premier S. F. Tolmie last night announced in the course of an address before the annual meeting of the Saanich Conservative Association.

The Premier stated that the new trunk roads would be termed "arterial highways," and would be built and maintained at the sole cost of the provincial treasury.

The Province would take over a number of existing main highways in municipalities adjacent to the larger centres of population and would improve them by straightening, broadening and where necessary, by re-surfacing. In addition, there would be initiated a programme of new trunk highways where such a course was found desirable to handle traffic without congestion.

MACDONALD IS HONORED BY U.S. UNIVERSITY

British Premier Delivers Address When Receiving Degree at Washington

Washington, Oct. 9.—Premier Ramsay MacDonald said to-day in accepting the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from George Washington University that one could never acquire anything in this world without purchasing it by "one's own effort, own will and own sacrifice."

The degree was conferred and the Premier's words uttered in Continental Memorial Hall, where seven years ago the great naval powers of the world signed the first agreement for limitation of naval armaments.

The significance of that agreement as well as other steps for world peace is the purpose of the visit of the Premier to this nation.

To-day a distinguished gathering assembled in the hall for the ceremony of conferring the degree. It included members of the diplomatic corps, justices of the Supreme Court of the United States, and members of the Cabinet and of Congress.

Ex-Afghan Minister Expelled From Britain

London, Oct. 9.—Shuja Ed. Dowler, Afghan Minister at London, who remained at the Legation here after the downfall of King Amanulla, has been expelled from Great Britain. Some of the newspapers say the expulsion was caused out several weeks ago and states it was "for personal reasons."

The London Daily Express, says he is now in Berlin, where he is passing extreme indignation, he charges the British Government seized his personal baggage, which contained valuable treasure belonging to Amanulla.

BEGBIE'S DEATH REVEALS HE WROTE MYSTERY BOOK

British Author Who Produced "Mirrors of Downing Street" Succumbs

London, Oct. 9.—The death of Harold Begbie, noted author, announced yesterday, has revealed at last the identity of "The Gentleman With a Duster."

Under that pen name Begbie wrote "Mirrors of Downing Street," one of the most discussed post-war books.

The book was a caustic criticism of the nation's leaders, political and military. The exceptional style of the writing produced the keenest interest as to its authorship and more than one Cabinet Minister was suggested as the writer.

Winnipeg, Oct. 9.—Marooned for four and one-half weeks in the subarctic wastes, Lieut.-Col. C. D. H. McAlpine and his seven companions must wait another week, at least, for rescue.

Search officials preparing to return to the east during the extent of the "in-between" season, to-day believed operations might be delayed until well after mid-October, when the planes could land on skis instead of pontoons.

Unless the eight lost explorers are able to make good use of the guns and fishing nets they carry, their provisions will have dwindled by now almost to the limit.

When the aerial hunt was inaugurated almost three weeks ago, it was announced the two McAlpine planes en route from Baker Lake, west of Hudson Bay, to Baffin's Inlet, on the Arctic coast, had carried six weeks' food supplies when they hopped off on September 8.

NEW POSSIBILITIES

Since all were experienced travelers, it was conjectured the food was rationed, from the start of their enforced stay in the Baffin Islands. Estimates from Arctic travelers and northland fliers favor the belief that the two planes' food cargo could be eked out until late in October. Guns and nets in an area where game and fish are abundant, would add indefinitely to the party's subsistence. Besides the entire group may now be harbored by one of a number of friendly Eskimo tribes, it is believed.

RUSSIAN FLIERS HOPE TO BE IN SEATTLE FRIDAY

Craig, Alaska, Oct. 9.—The new motor for the Russian plane "Lady of the Soviets," en route from Moscow to New York, arrived at Waterfall, Alaska, yesterday and was speedily put in place. The Russian aviators, who expect to have the motor completely installed and tuned up by next Friday, state they will be ready to get off on that date for the flight along the British Columbia coast to Seattle.

The Russians were forced to land at Waterfall last Thursday, shortly after they had taken off from Sitka for Seattle, when one of their motors failed. The new motor was shipped from Seattle to Ketchikan aboard the steamer Alaska and was taken to Waterfall by the United States coastguard cutter Cygan.

WATER BOY KING LOSES IN KABUL'S NEW BATTLE

Moscow, Oct. 9.—Advices received here to-day stated Nadir Khan's forces had captured Kabul, Afghanistan, forcing Abdulla Khan, the one-time water boy and low-life, to barricade himself in a house in the centre of the town.

Kurdish forces in Gardez and Kariz Dervishes surrendered to Nadir Khan, who has dispatched a strong force toward Jalalabad to meet troops which Abdulla has ordered to come to his rescue in Kabul.

Abdulla Khan, formerly known as Bacha Sakao, drove King Amanulla from his throne early this year. Since then Amanulla has been in Europe. Nadir Khan was one of the chief figures of the old regime.

OLD WAR-SHELL KILLS CHILDREN

Warsaw, Oct. 9.—Eight schoolchildren at the village of Konitz, near Pinsk, were killed and several seriously injured yesterday when they found a shell near their schoolhouse in a field which was the site of several battles during the Great War.

When they took the shell into a cellar and attempted to unscrew the cap it exploded.

New Plane Propelled By Rockets

Above are reproduced the first photos of the new Opel rocket aeroplane received in Canada. The upper picture shows Fritz von Opel, young German scientist and inventor, in the cockpit of the machine, and at the left is a close-up of the engine. The lower picture shows the plane on one of the tests that led up to its successful flight of 1.2 miles last week, when it made its landing as well as its take-off by means of rockets. The daring flier hopes soon to cover much longer distances aboard the pioneer machine.

JIMMIE FOXX

NUMBER HURT IN EXPLOSION

Clifton, N.J., Oct. 9.—An explosion blew out a wall of the building of the Jacques Gruen Co., chemical manufacturers here to-day, injuring a number of employees. A number of the injured were taken to Passaic Hospital and firemen searched debris in the belief some had met death.

Wrigley Field, Chicago, Oct. 9.—Murderous bats of Jimmy Foxx, the "baby" of the series, Al Simmons and Jimmy Dykes ruined any aspirations which Manager Joe McCarthy of the Chicago Cubs may have had of evening the world series to-day. The barrage of hits which these sluggers bashed out, including two home runs, split the second straight victory for Connie Mack's Athletics. The score was 9-3.

Four Cub pitchers, Pat Malone, Sheriff Blake, Hal Carlson and Art Nehf, faced the Athletic sluggers. One after another the first three trotted to the showers, Blake and Carlson being replaced by pinch-hitters.

The home runs of Foxx and Simmons made all the difference when they meant something. Foxx scored the first three runs of the game with his first clout over right centre in the third. Simmons replied to a three-run rally by the Cubs, scoring two runs in the eighth and practically clinching the game.

GROVE'S GETS CREDIT

Once again thirteen Chicago batters fanned the air before Athletic pitchers, thus tying the record established yesterday by Howard Ehmke. To-day, however, it was split between Earnshaw and Grove.

Although it was Lefty Grove who started the side of a determined Cub rally, George Earnshaw got credit for winning the game.

Jimmy Foxx, the Athletics' first baseman, hit a home run in the third, his second of the series, that started things moving. Cochran, who had previously singled and Simmons who walked, scored along with Foxx.

THREE MORE

When the Athletic followed in the next session with another trio of counters, it looked as if everything was over for the day. Woody English, whose two errors yesterday split final disaster for the Cubs, started the third inning fireworks by fumbling the ball. Ehmke, grandly dressed in his gaudy green and gold, was already on base and then Malone filled the bags by passing Bishop. Dineen came home when English chose to put Bishop at second on a grounder by Haas. Al Simmons put the finishing touches to the rally by singling to left, scoring Earnshaw and Haas.

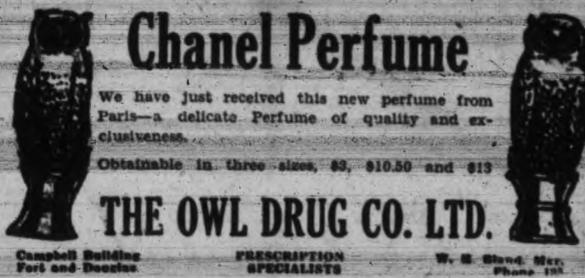

At this stage Pat Malone made his exit and Sheriff Blake came in for his short sojourn. Foxx followed to end the inning.

Singled by Miller and Dykes in the Athletics' half of the fifth looked dangerous, but the side was retired without score.

The Cubs' "numbers" row suddenly woke up in their half of the same session. Hornsey and Blake both singled after English had filled out. Cuyler disappointed the fans by missing his fifth strikeout of the series, but the following three batters all connected for safe hits, and Hornsey, Wilson and Stephenson scored.

Manager Joe McCarthy gambled everything to tie the count, replacing his newly-installed pitcher at bat with Heathcote, a left-handed batter. Connie Mack met this move by sending the lead-off man to the plate by singling to left, scoring Earnshaw and Haas.

Supreme Court of Canada
Pending

Application for leave to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada from a ruling of the Court of Appeal, may be preferred before the present term of the British Columbia tribunal at Vancouver, on behalf of James Zafiris, Mrs. Zafiris and V. Paul, defendants in the action of Lerik versus Zafiris and others, it was learned to-day.

The dispute involves the operation of two cafes on Johnson Street, the Gem Cafe and the Busy Bee Cafe. Nicholas Lerik, operator of the Gem Cafe, sued Zafiris and others, alleging breach of a covenant on the part of James Zafiris not to re-enter the restaurant trade after parting with his original holding.

In a judgment given by the Appeal Court an injunction was granted to the plaintiff and application for a stay of injunction proceedings may be made by the defendants at the same time, it was said here to-day. The two cafes are on the west side of Johnson Street, close to opposite corners of Broad Street.

ATHLETICS TAKE SECOND STRAIGHT GAME

speed ball king. Left Grove, in to pitch, so Mr. McCarthy "reneged" and put Gabby Hartnett, a right-handed hitter, to face the speed baller. It was no use. Hartnett fanned and the side was out.

FOXX HITS AGAIN

Carlson was then given the task of stopping the heavy hitting Athletics. He held them down in the ninth, but the youthful Foxx again got his bat into the fray in the seventh, and after registering a clean hit, scored on Jimmy Dyke's third hit of the game.

This was to be the last effort of Grove's speed in the sixth. McMillan and English both whiffed the bats, swinging their bats several times after the ball was in the catcher's glove. Grove began to take his time after this effort, however.

Following is a play by play description of the game:

FIRST INNING

Athletics—Bishop struck out, swinging for his third strike. Haas up. Malone in, using his fast ball. Haas fanned out, swinging at a fast ball right over the plate. Hartnett walked on a fourth ball inside. Simmons up. The ball hit Simmons' bat on the first delivery. Malone threw to first. Simmons was called out on strikes. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Cube—McMillan fanned. English struck out. Hornsby went out to Fox unassisted. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left on.

SEVENTH INNING

Athletics—Carlson went in for pitcher for the Cub. Haas hit into centre field for a single. Cochrane hit to English and a double play followed.

This was to be the last effort of Grove's speed in the sixth. McMillan and English both whiffed the bats, swinging their bats several times after the ball was in the catcher's glove. Grove began to take his time after this effort, however.

Following is a play by play description of the game:

FIRST INNING

Athletics—Bishop struck out, swinging for his third strike. Haas up. Malone in, using his fast ball. Haas fanned out, swinging at a fast ball right over the plate. Hartnett walked on a fourth ball inside. Simmons up. The ball hit Simmons' bat on the first delivery. Malone threw to first. Simmons was called out on strikes. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left on.

SECOND INNING

Athletics—Foxx went out, English to Grimm. Grimm made a great one-handed catch of a low throw and fell, but kept his foot on the bag. Miller was up. He hit to Boley. Boley walked on a pitch outside. Boley up. A fan caught a foul from the bat of Boley in the stands. Malone fanned to first. He threw again. Boley hit a fly to right. Earshaw ran to third. Boley stopping at first. Earshaw up. Boley's fly was not caught. Malone fanned to first. Earshaw swinging hard at the third strike. McMillan struck out. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left on.

THIRD INNING

Athletics—Bishop struck out on a high fly to Stephenson. Haas went out on a foul to McMillan, in front of the sub's dugout. Cochrane singled to right. Simmons walked. Foxx hit a home run into right centre and Simmons scored ahead of him. Cochrane also scored on Foxx's home run. Malone fanned. Three runs, two hits, no errors, none left on.

FOURTH INNING

NINTH INNING

Athletics—The Cubs have equalled the strikeout record of yesterday. Dykes went out. Hornsby went to first. Boley went out on a fly to Stephenson, who made a good catch of his looping fly. Groves hit a high fly which Hack Wilson caught in centre. No runs, no hits, none left on.

OUR TOURIST BUSINESS

WHAT THE TOURIST INDUSTRY means to this community in specific terms is reflected in the details which have been carefully collected by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau. These show that something like 400,000 tourists visited this city—many of them, of course, going to other parts of Vancouver Island—during the season which has recently closed, and that, reckoning that each of them would spend at least ten dollars, the business was worth at least $4,000,000 to this community.

Ten dollars a-head obviously is a conservative estimate of the amount which each tourist would spend, the very substantial increase in the weekly bank clearings, compared with last year, suggesting that a much larger sum than the Bureau's estimate very probably was realized from this business during the season. In any case, taking $4,000,000 as a fair aggregate, we get some idea of the return Victoria gets for the comparatively insignificant amount which it spends on advertising. It proves at least that not only is the publicity of the right kind, but that it also is judiciously placed.

It is interesting, moreover, to note how this business has expanded in the last few years. Last year's report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics gives it a value for the country as a whole of $250,501,000, compared with $153,876,000 for the year 1924. It is only possible, of course, to guess at this year's turnover; but competent authorities predict that the total will possibly exceed the $300,000,000 mark.

It is becoming more and more obvious that there is a growing inclination on the part of our neighbors to holiday on this continent to a greater extent, a movement in which this Dominion will liberally share. For these reasons it will be necessary for Victoria to keep its attractions prominently before the traveling public. Fortunately, belief in the value of the right kind of advertising now is general among our citizens; it is recognized that Victoria is in keen competition with thousands of cities on both sides of the international boundary.

MR. FERGUSON AND PLEBISCITES

NO SOONER HAD PREMIER FERGUSON of Ontario said that his Government would take the responsibility for any measures it may take, and would not "skulk behind" a plebiscite or referendum, than he was reminded of other days when he had different views on the subject. Five years ago he was urging the Legislature to let him hold a plebiscite in these terms:

How is the Government to obtain an expression of public opinion? We chose what we thought was the democratic way, which would give everyone an opportunity. We ask leave of this House to make certain inquiries of the public to guide us in the responsibility we must assume. Our purpose and declared intention in this legislation is to ask everyone his opinion.

Only a few days ago Mr. Ferguson said that a plebiscite was merely refuge and wholly undemocratic method of procedure. But he obviously did not think so in 1924; and we are also reminded that as far back as 1919, when he was Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, there was a referendum. Nothing in the records of that day, however, show that Mr. Ferguson objected to this means of testing public opinion.

A Conservative contemporary, commenting upon Mr. Ferguson's present attitude towards a plebiscite on the liquor question, says that "he believes in the representative system of government which is the foundation of our parliamentary development." Our parliamentary development is based upon the facility with which Governments may obtain the views of the electorate upon questions vitally involving the public welfare.

FIRE PREVENTION

THIS IS WHAT IS KNOWN IN CANADA as "Fire Prevention Week." It does not mean that the other fifty-one weeks are not fire prevention weeks. The period is merely set apart to permit of special emphasis being laid upon the necessity of Canadians observing the elementary precautions against fire. The press of the country has been asked to assist, and it very gladly accepts its share of what it considers a public duty.

Canada's fire losses every year are too great. As a people we are too careless of the danger from this source. Too frequently we read of the serious consequences of lighting the kitchen stove with gasoline, of houses burned down because ashes carelessly thrown outside have contained live embers, of the hundred and one acts of thoughtlessness which have brought disaster.

It is in our own interests that we be mindful of these things. Even the observance of the most elementary safeguards would cut the annual fire loss of the country many millions of dollars. We should ponder over this subject, not only this week, but always. It is little enough to ask; but it will mean much to everybody if we observe the simple injunctions with which we are familiar.

A QUESTION OF COST

AN IMPORTANT SUBJECT UNDER consideration at the Tenth Assembly of the League of Nations was that of the yearly budget. The sum required for next year in round figures amounts to $5,700,000.

There are some who take delight in trying to belittle the efforts of the League in the interests of world peace. These no doubt will suggest that this is a mighty big sum for a big talking pow-wow which has little practical effect in world politics.

The unprejudiced observer, however, will be of quite a different opinion. He knows that not only has the League done more for international peace than any agency devised by man, but that it has actually prevented ten European wars since 1918. That is a fine record, but it is not the whole story. The League has created a new atmosphere in international diplomacy, and by bringing together the world's greatest statesmen in annual conference, has been the chief agent in limiting to the minimum that secret diplomacy which for centuries has been a potent source of distrust, suspicion and war.

Is it possible that any sane man or woman will cavil against an expenditure of five million dollars as a world insurance fund against war? The cost of one dreadnought is from $15,000,000 to $35,000,000. The cost to the whole world of a single week in the late war was $100,000,000. Such comparisons could be continued indefinitely, and they would show in the final analysis that more than one-third of all taxes in all countries can be traced to the last great international conflict.

There is a real will-for-peace in the world today. It is more vocal and insistent than at any time in history and eventually the peoples of all countries will insist, on some practical form of disarmament. In the meantime, the great bulk of them have come to believe in the League of Nations as the most practical agency yet devised to deal with problems of international peace. They will be ready to spend a hundred times the yearly budget of the League if they believe that it is getting results.

THE AIRPORT

ALTHOUGH IN THE OPINION OF THE official of the Dominion Department of Aviation who has investigated the situation there is no danger at present that the use of the inner harbor as a base for seaplanes would be a menace either to shipping or aircraft, it may be regarded as certain that the time is not far distant when a much greater space will be required to meet the growing requirements of aviation at this port.

Within a very short time it is altogether likely that several companies will be operating airplanes in and out of this port, a development which will mean that many machines will be landing passengers here each day. As that traffic grows, moreover, so will shipping increase, for there is bound to be continued expansion of the steamship services.

As far as Esquimalt is concerned, the only disability would be its distance from the city; but the delay involved would be less than is encountered in transporting passengers from Lake Union to the heart of the city of Seattle. The important point to be borne in mind is that the location finally decided upon as the permanent airport must be as safe as it is possible to make it. The discussion which already has taken place on the subject, incidentally, amply justifies the attention the Chamber of Commerce has given to it.

THE RIGHT WAY

NEWS FROM OTTAWA ANNOUNCES that initial steps are being taken to establish, near the Kingston and St. Vincent de Paul penitentiaries, special institutions for young or first offenders so that they may be segregated from the recidivist type. It also is reported that a similar institution will be established in this province.

It will be recalled that Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, announced some time ago that the policy now in preparation was under consideration and would be developed as soon as possible. It is a move in the right direction. It is not a case of coddling the criminal. It is a policy which very properly regards the reclamation of the first offender as the duty of the state.

It may be that not all youthful offenders will react to the consideration for their future which the new system provides. But it will give them a fair chance. Association with hardened criminals brings them into contact with a mental outlook which sooner or later is bound to have a damaging effect upon them.

Conviction of a motor-bus driver on a charge of manslaughter, followed by a sentence of eighteen months, should serve as a salutary warning against reckless driving of these heavy vehicles. It has been obvious on much-traveled roads that many bus drivers bent on maintaining their schedules, expect other people to yield the right of way, and it is due to a fear of the power of these vehicles that the way is usually cleared. The widespread approval of the various movements started to correct this indicates clearly the need of action, and the punishment inflicted on the bus driver in the Howard County case should be helpful to this end.

A FINANCIAL FALLOUT

The Toronto Star

Under the heading, "Canada Under Stars and Stripes—Our Chief Dominion in Pawn to Wall Street," The Referee, an English publication, prints an article on capital investment in Canada by Garry Allingham, formerly on a Toronto newspaper. It is true that United States capital is invested in Canada to the extent of over three billion dollars, and British capital to the extent of little more than two billion dollars, and in so far as the purpose of Mr. Allingham's article is to secure the investment of additional British capital, it is timely and welcome. But Canada is not "in pawn to Wall Street." In comparison with over three billions of American capital, Canada's total national wealth is close to thirty billions, exclusive of the value of undeveloped natural resources, in which a good deal of the outside capital is invested.

BULB GROWING

To the Editor:—Are we in British Columbia, particularly the southern end of Vancouver Island, alive to our opportunities of greatly increasing our production of poppies?

The growing of highly valuable bulbs in this part of the World has been proved and carried beyond the experimental stage, and this being the case we should now seek to develop and increase the business for which our land and climate have proved themselves so suitable.

In spite of the local bulbs, which have been yearly increasing steadily British Columbia still imports a large number—last year it was nearly 4,000,000—so we still have a good home market to fill.

The growth of the bulb and seed business in the State of Washington has been remarkable and now exceeds $10,000,000 per year.

The export market for British Columbia bulbs is growing faster than our production, and last year British Columbia bulbs were shipped to eleven different countries, a little over 10,000 bulbs in all, and larger repeat orders are the result.

ARMISTICE DAY

To the Editor:—Attached is a copy of a circular letter which has been sent to ladies' organizations. The list from which I worked is, doubtless, far from complete, and many willing workers have probably been overlooked.

The Armistice Period Committee desires to secure the cooperation of every organization and lady in the district that is able and willing to help, and it is hoped this announcement will be accepted as a hearty invitation and urgent call to help.

Dear Madam:

Arrangements for celebrating the eleventh anniversary of Armistice are now being made. As no doubt you are aware, the creation of a fund, by the sale of poppies, for the purpose of relieving distress among ex-service men and women and their dependents, is part of the work entrusted to this committee.

This year street sales will be made on Saturday, November 9, and to insure success a strong and efficient team is required.

Co-operating with the Royal Sanitary Institute of London, England, Dr. Richard Fulton, City Health Officer, issued the following statement to-day:

"Why tolerate public nuisances? To health that is capable of being altered, there is no cure."

"Excessive noise is a public nuisance. Its effect on the nervous system is insidious but very real. Let us work towards a quieter life—easy closing doors and cast-iron furniture. Why roar your horn unnecessarily at every inoffensive foot passenger? He has the right of way, anyhow. Feet were made before motors. Slow down and let him cross. Why tolerate the din of our street cars? They can be fitted with silencers."

"Excessive glare of light is a public nuisance. It ages our eyes before our bodies are old. Select your wall colors with intelligence, and shade your lights which are at the lower level of the eyes. Co-operate to rid yourselves of public nuisances."

SHOWS VALUE OF FLUORESCENCE IN DISEASE FINDING

Detection Facilitated By Light Process, Says Dr. Shrum of U.B.C.

Value of fluorescent tests in disease detection and its practical application were outlined by Dr. G. M. Shrum, professor of physics at the University of British Columbia, before an interested audience in the Victoria High School auditorium last night.

The speaker not only outlined the various benefits to be obtained from a study of fluorescence and phosphorescence, but illustrated several features of the study with experiments.

The talk was given under the auspices of the Victoria section of the Royal Astronomical Society.

Of concrete value was the fluorescent test to discover traces of skin disease in immigrants and people coming into a country from infected areas. Laboratories at which such tests would be conducted were predicted by Dr. Shrum at all ports of entry into countries.

With the assistance of a lantern as well as many test tubes, retorts, tungsten and ordinary electric lamps and chemicals, the speaker gave many illustrations of the effects of light under various conditions.

"SUN-RAY" GLASS

Reference was made by Dr. Shrum to the tests being conducted to determine the wearing quality of "sun-ray" glass for solarium and hospital use. A fine field for research work was offered in this department of physics, the speaker continued, saying that certain "sun-ray" glass had proved to be much better than other types.

The speaker made comparisons between the manufactured electric lamp and the natural light of the firefly. The firefly was made during the lecture to illustrate the inefficiency of the man-made luminescence. The speaker stated that whereas the firefly was about 95.5 per cent efficient, the ordinary light was only about two-fifths of one per cent efficient, while the tungsten and brilliant mercury arc were one and three-tenths and three and four-tenths per cent efficient, respectively.

Continuing his talk, Dr. Shrum explained the difference between fluorescence and phosphorescence to the audience, saying that both might be described as luminescence. In fluorescence the duration of light continued only for the duration of the outside stimulus, while in phosphorescence it continued for some time after the stimulus had been withdrawn.

In conclusion the speaker stated that very valuable data regarding the molecule might be secured from the study of fluorescent-phosphorescent reactions.

A vote of thanks was tendered the speaker by Dr. J. S. Plaskett, director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory and seconded by Dr. Beale.

Preceding the lecture, J. A. Pearce, president of the local branch of the Royal Astronomical Society, spoke of the work done by Dr. Shrum in the research and practical fields.

Splendid Harvest Festival Concert At St. Martin's

A splendid concert in connection with the annual harvest festival was given last evening by the church committee of St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, to a very appreciative audience in their parish hall on Ober Avenue. The artists were Mrs. Holmes, Mrs. Love, the Misses Betty Caulis, Frances and Violent Merrifield, H. Craven, Harry Symonds and Frank Merrifield, the "Cornish Lass" who, at the close, turned auctioneer and disposed of the large donations of flowers, fruit and vegetables, etc., which netted a substantial addition to the harvest funds.

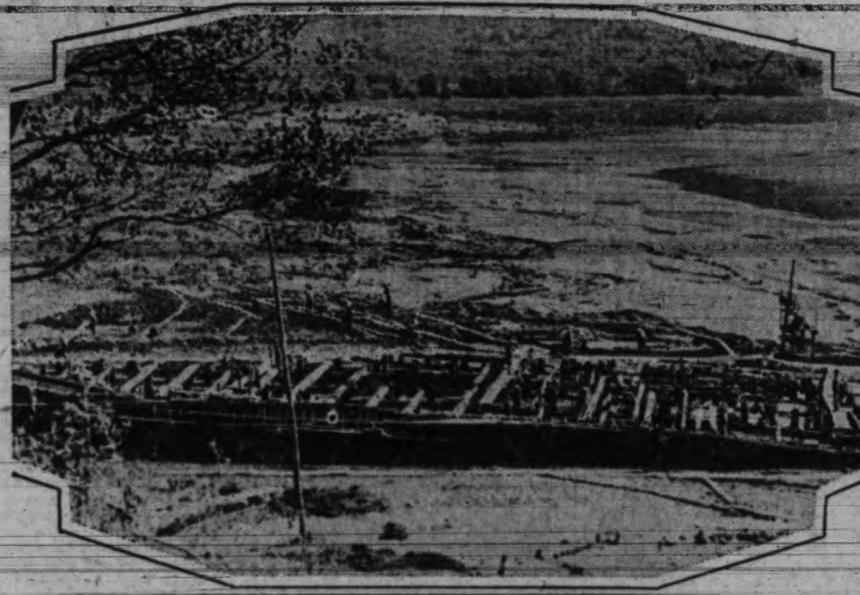

Miss Arup was, as usual, an excellent accompanist. The church committee tenders their cordial acknowledgments to everyone who took a share in making the evening the success it was.

MISSING FLIERS REPORTED SAFE

Prince Albert, Sask., Oct. 9.—Five persons missing since Saturday in the country between Lac la Ronge and Christophe Lake are safe, according to a radio message received here from Alva Malone, pilot of the plane in which the quintette was traveling north.

The Cherry Red Air Line Buil sedan, carrying Malone, an Anglican church minister, Rev. R. J. Malone, and the latter's wife and two children, had apparently made a forced landing near Lac la Ronge, though Malone gave no details in his brief report.

ANOTHER "GLORY" OF ANCIENT ROME REVEALED

Engineers said it could not be done, but Mussolini declared they were going to do it anyway. And this photo shows the completion of the tremendous task that left revealed to archaeologists one of the barges built by the Emperor Caligula 2,000 years ago. At that time the great hulk had lain at the bottom of Lake Nemi in Italy. When it defied efforts to raise it, Il Duce had the big lake pumped out. This picture gives an idea of the great size of the craft, which was lavishly fitted as a floating palace for the spendthrift young ruler, who pronounced himself a god.

WHEAT FROM MONTREAL

Montreal, Oct. 9.—This week saw the largest delivery of grain shipped from the harbor in Montreal since the middle of July. A total of 849,919 bushels were shipped on July 18, when 912,000 bushels left the port prior to the present grain tie-up.

Our Tramways

In these days of rapid transportation—by land, by sea and by air—our tramways continue to be an indispensable factor in the daily lives of the vast majority of our citizens

THOUSANDS upon thousands of people in Canadian cities are entirely dependent upon the tramways for economical and convenient transportation—from home to office and office to home. Indeed, no other means has yet been devised that will permit of masses being moved so effectively or so cheaply.

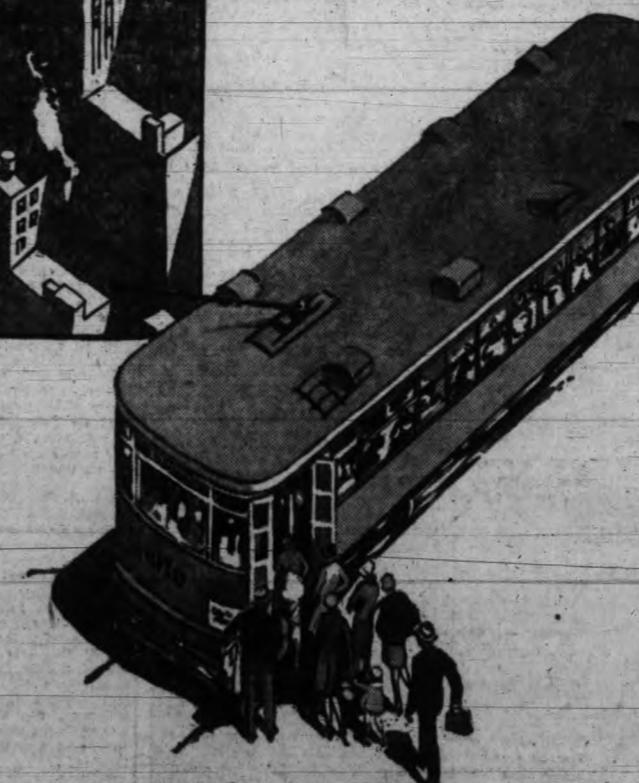

And as our cities expand—as more and more people are crowded out to "Suburbia" and to country homes—so does the value of the tramway increase.

In their great service to the public, the Street Railway Companies of Canada are supplied with many, many miles of wire and cable by the Northern Electric Company.

Information...

The latest figures available show that there are 60 Electric Railway Systems in Canada, representing a capitalization of $222,552,717, and operating 2,500 miles of track. In 1927 these railways carried no less than 781,398,194 passengers at an average fare of 6½ cents. Including transfer passengers, the total was 1,023,771,748.

Adult Bases Advice on Own Experiences

Mrs. Y. B. writes: "I am a subscriber to your paper for several years, and would like another to be questioned through your paper. My daughter has her mother-in-law living with her, and I notice they feed the ten-weeks' old baby butter on the end of a spoon. They also push bits of food into the baby's mouth. My daughter reads your column, and berates by it. She is very young and thinks her first baby can help her? Would you suggest in your good work?"

ANSWER.

This incident would seem to indicate that while the young mother is reading the column she isn't as yet putting its advice into practice. If the baby needs butter it should be given him as part of his formula. There are butter and flour mixtures cooked together and added to milk which may be given as babies' first cereal, digest cream and butter, or need later. Butter on a spoon on the end of a spoon is just to be "doing something" for the baby, the benefits or ill effects of which the parents are ignorant. In fact, if this tiny baby is getting milk that is rich in cream the additional butter might not easily upset him, to the extent of upsetting him, or bringing out a rash just because he was overfed on fats. It is most unwise for a parent to give a small baby anything except foods advised by experts in child feeding.

Stiff Silks

While worsteds grow soft and pliable as silk crepes, the failles and other taffetas and the new satins assume a stiffness that is much more dignified than last season's silks. These are excellent for the new, more normal modes.

Creamed Cucumbers

A delicious and very delicate luncheon dish is made by steaming halved cucumbers and serving them on toast with rich cheese sauce. Peel before steaming.

QUAINT CHOPPING BOARD RITUAL

Humble Kitchen Utensil
Figures in Japanese Temple
Rite

Tokio, Oct. 9 (By The Canadian Press)—Most households who own a thought of the Japanese chopping board. Its place is about as in the aristocracy of the modern kitchen, and yet in Japan the chopping board is a sacred object at this time of the year.

In a few days Ho-on Temple in Kichishimacho, Asakusa, will observe the ceremony for consecration of the chopping board. Its origin is about as in the aristocracy of the modern kitchen, and yet in Japan the chopping board is a sacred object at this time of the year.

The priest is teaching him to want and demand foods which the adults are eating and foods which are entirely out of place in the diet of the well-fed baby. I suggest that you tell your daughter to get herself a good book on baby care, read it carefully and constantly, and put its advice into practice. She need not antagonize her mother-in-law, but she can tell her that she is taking her chances on making baby ill, and unless advised by an expert will not give the baby any strange or new food.

She is welcome to the feeding leaflet which may be obtained from this department for only a self-addressed stamp and envelope with her request. Advice is needed by the young parent, but if she asks for it from an adult she usually gets an opinion based on personal experience; which is a precarious foundation for accurate knowledge about baby care and feeding.

You, too, may have "Wenning and Feeding from Six Weeks to Six Years." Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this department.

The chief priest followed by a number of his assistants will enter the hall at the appointed time and take their places before the alcove. Then a chopping board will be set long and skinned a half foot wide, will be placed in the centre of the room for the cooks to dress the carp. The cook and his assistant in their Shinto robes will proceed to the chopping board and with due decorum go about their task.

While the fish is being dressed the priests chant sutras to consecrate the board. The chopping board is consecrated with white wash as a measure of purification.

When the dressing is completed the cooks hold up the fish with chopsticks in a way to represent the carp rising toward heaven. This scene is called "the carp at the dragon gate."

The other carp will be dressed in the same way and the fins and bones of the fish held up in a way to represent a phrase in Chinese characters meaning sterility.

The infant that is mentally defective at birth will begin to show its defects very promptly. If the infant does not show normal characteristics of growth easily in life it demands very prompt consideration and attention.

Even though it is not certain that much can be done for such an infant, except to protect it against a world which has but little consideration for the inefficient, what scientific medicine can do in such cases is to determine as soon as possible the need for specialized study and care, the separation of the individual from the group, and its life and those of its relatives the special attention that will make more endurable.

Football Shape

Some of the new bags are of the half-football shape, with straight tops. The closings are apt to be original. One is a four-leaf clover in silver.

Odd Handles

New umbrellas, barely big enough for one, make much of unique handles. One from Worth has a shepherd's crook, delicately pointed in lapis lazuli.

Medicine Stains

Silver stained with medicaments should be rubbed with methylated spirit. Afterwards wash the silver in warm, scapy water and polish with a dry cloth.

ABOUT EDUCATION

Dr. John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton University, summed up the ideals of modern education very aptly in his address to the 2,000 undergraduates at their first Chapel meeting.

He began by quoting the Oxford man who defined education as "what remains behind when you have forgotten all you have learned" and then elaborated thus on what should be left behind:

"A mind tempered and skilled instrument of realizing the processes of the will, a depository of ideas gained from study, contemplation and experience, a creative power to make possible the things regarded as impossible, surmounting obstacles that are regarded as insurmountable, a creating power, a discerning faculty separating the essentials from the unessential, in a mass of confused and chaotic fact, penetrating to the heart of a subject, in a new and unfamiliar situation, a mind that is the enemy of sophistries of loose thinking and of hasty and ungrounded generalizations."

We are so apt to think of education as something acquired, rather than created, something that you get from college, in the laboratory out of books, or from travel, instead of the sum total of everything you feel and experience as well as absorb.

A boy could not go to college four years and be completely uneducated according to Dr. Hibben, or he could not be an educated man without ever having entered an institution of learning, according to his own reaction to the experiences that come to him.

Incidentally, the Doctor says nothing of the financial value of such an education—or how much it is worth in dollars and cents.

However, it does sound more like the mental equipment of a philosopher than of a millionaire.

Early Study of Child's Mental Capacity Is Important

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

The most rapid period of growth of the child is in its early years. In the very early days of growth days count greatly; after middle life days mean little in the changes that go on in the human organism.

The psychologists who have studied the mental development of the child consider it of the greatest importance to determine as soon as possible whether or not the child is likely to be mentally defective. The quicker important factor can be brought to bear, the better it is for the future life of the individual.

Thus, Dr. Arnold Gesell of the Psycho-Clinic of Yale University indicates a few of the definite activities that a child can carry out purposefully during its first year.

The chief priest followed by a number of his assistants will enter the hall at the appointed time and take their places before the alcove. Then a chopping board will be set long and skinned a half foot wide, will be placed in the centre of the room for the cooks to dress the carp. The cook and his assistant in their Shinto robes will proceed to the chopping board and with due decorum go about their task.

CLEARANCES OF LIQUOR CARGOES TO BE STOPPED

Reported in Ottawa Government Will Ask Parliament to Pass Bill

Ottawa, Oct. 9.—There was no announcement at the conclusion of yesterday's Cabinet meeting respecting liquor clearances. People in close touch with the Government, however, continue to express the opinion the Ministry has pretty definitely decided against refusing clearances of liquor shipments destined for the United States.

Most of the ministers attended the meeting yesterday and if liquor clearances was one of the subjects of discussion it could hardly have been for very long, because Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of National Revenue, the de-

Premier King is believed to be in favor of stopping the clearances.

TO MEET PUBLIC OPINION

There had been differences of opinion in the Cabinet, said an official in close touch with the question. Some of the Ministry had felt refusal of clearances would be such a large body of public opinion firmly convinced it would be effective, they had joined in their colleagues' decision to give it a trial.

Of course it would take an act of Parliament to enable the Government to stop clearances, but that would be probably simply an empowering act, leaving with the Ministry the responsibility of putting it into effect at such time as it sees fit.

HEENAN SHARES IN CAMPAIGN IN ONTARIO

Ottawa, Oct. 9.—Aurelien Belanger will seek re-election to the Ontario Legislature as Liberal member for Russell. He was nominated to contest the riding in the general election
October 30, at a Liberal convention held yesterday in the suburb of East-view.

Addressing the meeting, Hon. Peter Heenan, Federal Minister of Labor, took to task the Conservatives, because he said they were taking credit falsely for things they had not brought about. Taking up the Workers' Compensation Act, the Minister declared that when it had been made law in 1914, it was not until 1920, when the Conservatives were out of power, that the act had been so amended as to make it "one of the best acts in its kind in existence."

The Mothers' Allowance Act for which the Conservatives took credit, was also passed in 1920, when they were out of power, said Mr. Heenan.

Two Ex-Ministers Of Great Britain Speak in New York

New York, Oct. 9.—The Earl of Birkenhead and Sir Hon. Winston Churchill, former British Conservative
Cabinet ministers, attended the Bond Club of New York yesterday. Both urged British-United States co-operation.

Lord Birkenhead said Britain and the United States were discharging their world-wide tasks in a spirit of growing friendship.

Mr. Churchill said Britain carried an enormous burden in maintaining the "Pax Britannica" and that the moral onus of the task easier.

"No task in the world to-day," he said, "is too great for the combined efforts of the English-speaking race."

TO MEET PUBLIC OPINION

Schools can't cover all the ground and give to children all the knowledge in life.

A child going to school learns many facts; he learns about the world, its countries and people, in his geography;
he learns about the things these people have done in the past in his history; and he learns many other things, but not all the things. That would be impossible.

There is other knowledge to be gained outside school—while the school teaches him and in many ways it is the biggest of all. It is knowledge of the world about him. Things going on every week, every day, every hour, at home, in other cities, other states, and across the sea.

Schools haven't time for everything.
As it is, they crowd into their curricul-ums all that they dare in the way of facts. The schools have another task greater and bigger than keeping children merely informed. Theirs is the labor of brain development, cultivating
the mental processes of reasoning, memory, concentration, judgment and selection.

What schools do primarily is to prepare the soil of the brain for knowledge and to plant what seed they can. If a child can pick up other knowledge outside of school, he is just that much ahead.

That is why it is urgent and indeed necessary for parents to keep themselves informed of world events and to pass these things on to the children.

So many things are occurring every day of vibrating interest and vital importance. History isn't past—it's present. Daily history is interesting—living history is life. There are thousands of other interesting things too in the way of general information that children should know. Things about trees, houses, animals, the weather, music,

mathematics, farming, mines, bridges,
waterpower, bridges, courts, kings, architecture, painting, sculpture—everything under the sun.

They can't get it all in school.

Where can they get it, then? From their parents, and from books, magazines and newspapers.

Don't allow them to read stories constantly. Try to get them into the

TOLMIE REVIEWS

WORK OF FIRST YEAR IN OFFICE

Premier Gives Saanich Conservatives Summary of Labors

Ruling on Saanich Secession
Not Unduly Delayed, Dr. Tolmie Asserts

The efforts of the Tolmie Government to fulfill pre-election pledges, and the wide basic considerations which had to be viewed in deciding the problem of secession in Saanich, were discussed by Premier S. F. Tolmie last night in an address before the annual meeting of the Saanich Conservative Association, held at the Campbell Building with a large and representative gathering.

"We have had one year in office and I do not think we should be ashamed of ourselves. The previous Government could not interest the Canadian Pacific Railway in the Pacific Great Eastern, but we now have them co-operating with the Canadian National Railway in a survey of the resources. We consider we should not barter for disposal until we know what we are giving away. We have also been in touch with the Indians and the Chinese, and the Chinese are our doors with offers, and they will be paying its way shortly," he said.

Premier Tolmie told of conversations with Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas regarding immigration problems, and the refusal of the Province to consent to bringing in men to displace British Columbians. He believed possible the development of new production for disposal in Great Britain, and was preparing, at the request of Mr. Thomas, a scheme of development on these lines.

The transcontinental railways had been interested by the Government in relief for Okanagan farmers, and had sent experts to study the situation. Sir Henry Thornton and Sanford Evans had consulted in his office at the Parliament Buildings, and as a result Okanagan apples will no longer suffer a handicap of twelve cents per hundredweight compared with Wenatchee fruit. The concession had later been acceded by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

CATTLE STATION
A cattle quarantine station is about to be provided on the Pacific Coast, to enable importers of British breeding stock to use the Canadian Canal at a great saving in freight charges. Cattle feeding arrangements had been made to benefit western Canadian cattlemen exporting livestock.

Discussing secession problems in Saanich, and the delay in action, Premier Tolmie pointed out that Commissioner Lampman had submitted no recommendations. The duty of the Government was to be fair to all parts of the municipality, but secession would aggravate conditions in some other areas. He knew of no precedent in Canada for any municipality being broken up by one part retiring. Remarking that the Government had been charged with ignoring the Saanich Relief Act, but pointed out that the measure was permissible, not compulsory.

Incidentally, the inner wards in Victoria would be relieved in over taxation of acreage absorbed by the city, as Victoria now had much unoccupied land not taxable.

NEW ROAD POLICY
The remedies proposed were discussed by Dr. Tolmie. He pointed out that the highways to be maintained by the Province would accord great relief, and because of non-residential traffic, were properly to be a charge on the Province.

Relief of agricultural land from burdensome taxation was now being studied by the Government, and the very best measure possible would be introduced in an effort to place farming on a healthy basis. Premier Tolmie announced,

"We are glad to do that as long as the other fellow will do his share. I am no believer in pap-feeding, but we are at work especially in development of new markets," he said.

Dr. Tolmie said nothing would please him better than to be able to give jobs to everybody. The trouble is the jobs are short. We have been carrying on an investigation over there in the Parliament Buildings and the report will be presented to us shortly," he said, concluding with expressions of confidence that at the next Federal election, British Columbia would be strongly behind Hon. R. B. Bennett and the Conservative party.

Billy Evans Recalls Outstanding Performers in Past Baseball Championships
By BILLY EVANS
Who will be the world series hero of 1929?
Since the series started in 1903, remarkable individual feats have been performed. Let us consider the heroes of each year, starting with 1903.
In 1903, Pitcher Bill Dineen of Boston stood out. He won three games in Pittsburgh, setting a record that has been tied but never beaten. It is a pinch he struck out Hans Wagner, the National League's greatest batter, to help save the day. Dineen is now a valued member of the American League staff of umpires.
There was no series in 1904, the Giants refusing to play the Boston Americans.
Christy Mathewson, now dead, was the big noise in 1905. He thrice blanked the hard-hitting Athletics in that series.
Given no consideration in the 1906 play-off, done, George E. Clegg, a Chicago White Sox, made possible a victory over the supposedly invincible Cubs. Two triples delivered in a pinch with runners on, helped decide two games and win the championship.

Meats Are Very Nourishing, So Don't
Try to Reduce on 'Em

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Americans eat tremendous amounts of meat, and with good reason.

The meats most commonly used are beef, veal, pork, lamb, fish and fowl.
The muscle meats do not provide many of the essential ingredients for a healthful diet, as compared with glandular organs, such as liver and kidney.
Animals cannot live on meat alone,
whereas they can exist for considerable periods of time on diets containing both meat and meat that have been beaten or crushed.

Meats are not especially to be selected in reducing diets, although a small portion of meat can do a particular harm if properly calculated as one constituent.

For example two slices of the breast of duck, weighing 80 grams or about one-sixth of a pound, provide 19 grams of protein and three grams of fat, 100 calories, a little phosphorus and iron, but very little of any of the important vitamins or other important food constituents.

A slice of roast beef of the same weight provides 24 grams of protein and 16 grams of fat and 240 calories, a little phosphorus and iron, but little in the way of the important vitamins.
A piece of steak, that is a slice about three inches by two inches by one half inch in size, weighing about one-eighth of a pound, provides 10 grams of protein, six grams of fat and about 100 calories. Veal is about the same, but ham and bacon require much less in order to give the same amount of energy.

Four small slices of bacon will give 100 calories; one small pork chop will give 100 calories; a very small veal cordon will give 100 calories.

It is in this reason that the meat products do not enter easily into reducing diets; but are exceedingly difficult to be used in reducing diets.

As far as fish are concerned, two thirds of a cup of oysters, or any where from six to ten oysters will provide 100 calories. One-half cup of canned salmon will do the same. One of the following is a good diet:

four of a cup of sunfish, two small trout, or one medium-sized smoked herring will provide 100 calories.

Such portions will weigh about one-eighth of a pound. Anywhere from 10 to 20 per cent of their content will be protein, and the remainder will be
fat. They are very poor in general in carbohydrate. The fish products are particularly valuable in yielding such mineral salts as calcium, phosphorus and iron and rather helpful for vitamins A and B.

That is to say, Gallur is free from theme songs for the talkies," says Van Osten. "But remember, the theatres and their owners have strong reasons why Gallur was confined in 1915. What we want is his recovery and rest. He has hundreds of musical compositions that were withheld by prison rules. His friends among musicians and the American Society of Composers may form a company to publish these. If only a small percentage were the same success as many of Gallur's numbers—used by bands throughout the nation

—he will be financially independent for life; free to devote his time to musical composition as a labor of love."

As it is, Gallur has about $93,000 to his credit, through sale of music while he was in prison.

It was a poignant admixture of grief and sadness at San Quentin prison as the word filtered about that
"The Professor" was leaving. And even after he limped out through the long-closed gates in the care of Van Osten and Adjutant Stairs of the Salvation Army, Gallur was surrounded again by guards and "trusties," who filled the tonneau of his auto with flowers and wished "The Professor"
good luck.

Gallur was serving a ten-year-to-life sentence for the death of a money-lender in 1915. Previously he had served a term for forgery. The former conviction slowed up efforts to get his release. But while in prison, Gallur conducted the prison band and orchestra. This music was one of the bright spots in the lives of the convicts.
So there was gladness and sadness
when he left.

ORIENT CRUISE BEING PLANNED FOR NEXT YEAR

Liner President Cleveland Will Be Here Jan. 25 With Tourist Party

Bound on a three months' tour of China, Japan and the Philippine Islands, members of an Oriental winter cruise will pass through Victoria on Saturday, January 25 aboard the American Mail liner President Cleveland, according to word received in Victoria this morning by W. M. Allan, local agent for the American Mail line, from headquarters of the company in Seattle.

Instead of debarking from the ship at Yokohama, and working from that port through the Orient, members of this party will stay aboard the Cleveland until the ship reaches Manila. From there they will travel back through China to Japan and will sail for Seattle or San Francisco in April. In this way the tourists will be immune to summer weather in the Far East. The liner President McKinley will bring the party back to North America, arrival here being scheduled for April 21.

SIDE TRIPS
Interesting side trips have been arranged by the American Express Company and the sights of the hinterland of China, Japan and the Philippines will become familiar to the tourists by the intimate contact which the journey will give them. The itinerary is as follows: Hongkong, Canton, Shantung, Tientsin, Peking, Tientsin, Dairen, Mukden in Manchuria, Seoul in Korea, Miyajima, Kobe, Osaka, Nara, Kyoto, Miyashima, Tokyo, Nipko and Yokohama. Lectures will be given at the various places by well informed residents of the Orient and the tour will be made as educational as possible and will give the party an opportunity to study conditions in the Far East, in the comparatively short time of only three months.

Klavness Line of Norway Plans Service From Vancouver to China and East Indies

Vancouver, Oct. 9.—Establishment of cargo services between Vancouver and north China in November, and Vancouver and the Dutch East Indies and Siam in January, was announced yesterday by the Klavness Line of Norway through A. C. Darroch, Vancouver agent.

Mr. Darroch, who has recently returned from a conference in Seattle with E. E. Johnson, Pacific Coast agent, states that eight new fast motorships will be routed into the trans-Pacific trades, each costing in the vicinity of $750,000.

The Klavness line, due here November 14, the Bronxville in December, and the Somerville will be used in north China services. Vessels to run between Vancouver and Dutch East Indies are the Pleasantville, Cornerville, Roseville, Graveline (named after Graveline Street) and the Leeville.

The first three fast liner ships with a speed in excess of 14.5 knots and a deadweight tonnage of 9,000. The other five are faster craft, equipped with 50,000 cubic feet of refrigeration space, and deep tanks for the carriage of vegetable oils. These will make sail all along the Pacific Coast, where the north China ships will operate out of north Pacific ports only if business is sufficient, Mr. Darroch says.

C.N.R. START WORK ON PIERS IN VANCOUVER

Call Tenders For Dredging of Proposed $1,000,000 Terminal For New Coast-Liners

Vancouver, Oct. 9.—As a first and necessary preliminary toward the task of enlarging the present coastwise pier at the head of Main Street into a $1,000,000 ocean pier, the Canadian National Steamships is calling tenders for dredging and a full-scale head the pilings at the outer end of the new pier.

Indicative of the haste that is required to have this new pier ready by the time the three new C.N.R. coasters will arrive here from the yards of the British builders, the bids on this dredging and filling work will be taken noon next Wednesday, October 16, with R. B. Teake, general manager of Canadian National Steamships, Montreal.

Calling of tenders for this preliminary part of the work is taken by C.N.R. officials to mean that the plans and specifications for the new pier, which were taken east recently by Major W. G. Swan, of Vancouver, have been approved by the C.N.R. officials at Montreal, although Major Swan is not yet back from the east.

There is an approximate amount of 15,000 cubic yards of silt to be removed from the last 500 feet of the outward end of the 1,000-foot pier.

This silt is to be replaced with a gravel fill that is estimated to require between 200,000 and 310,000 cubic yards. It is probable that there will be a chance to use some of the gravel dredged from the First Narrows in the filling of the channel there, in the fill for the new C.N.R. pier if work is resumption on the new pier shortly.

This dredging and fill operation is required to be completed in three months in order to allow the fill to settle and be ready for the driving of piles early in the New Year by the contractor for the superstructure of the pier proper.

Plans and specifications of the work are obtainable at the office of B. C. Keeley, Pacific Coast manager, Canadian National Steamships, C.N.R. depot. It is expected that tenders will be called on the general contract for the superstructure within the next two weeks.

King Bros. expected to clear the Dungeness Harbor Tacoma for sea late tonight. The Tacoma has been at Ogden Point since Sunday, loading 1,000,000 feet of lumber for Atlantic coast ports.

WALLACE AGAIN HEADS SAANICH CONSERVATIVES

W. O. Wallace Re-elected in Contest With Capt. H. Thain

Defeated Candidate Appeals For Change of Policy

W. O. Wallace was overwhelmingly re-elected last night as president of the Saanich Conservative Association, after a contest with Capt. Harry Thain for the office. The annual meeting at the Conservative rooms in the Campbell Building was well attended, despite the inclement weather, all parts of the constituency being well represented. Many of those attending are not qualified to vote, being present to hear addresses by Prefect Tolmie and C. H. Dickie, M.P.

Mr. Wallace was placed in nomination by F. Sparks and Col. A. W. Woods and Capt. Thain was proposed by H. Hoffman and W. Braden. Mr. Wallace professed his nomination with a brief review of the last year's activity, in which he attributed the success of the Association to the hearty labors of the working members of the ward organizations. He believed that the general practice of holding local social gatherings had been a great factor in building up harmony and good feeling. His efforts had been directed towards creation of an organization of rank to the Conservative Party and he was standing for re-election on his record.

WORKERS DISPLEASED
Capt. Thain secured permission to explain his candidature, and stated that he had to do so in view of the opinion with Mr. Wallace as to policy. "There is a certain dissatisfaction with the Conservative Party throughout the Province. Good workers feel this organization has not been treated with the consideration to which it is entitled," he asserted, being halted by the chairman.

"The executive has been met by our members only once this year. Perhaps the time is not the most unfortunate circumstances, but there is a general dissatisfaction," Capt. Thain insisted.

"If this organization is only to be a vote-catching machine, all right, but I am satisfied that, if I am defeated, in four months' time people will find I was right," he concluded, later refusing to cast a voting ballot.

The returning officers having announced the election of Mr. Wallace, Capt. Thain called for the result of the ballot, which was stated as fifty votes for Mr. Wallace and fifteen votes for Capt. Thain.

COHORTS RALLY
Following the conclusion of the meeting Capt. Thain was gratified by a number of his supporters for having notified President Wallace of his proposed candidature. Capt. Thain explained that he had considered notification required by fair play. He stated that he was aware that, by his frankness, he had set telephone bells ringing in the homes of Government job-seekers who were members of the association executive at the behest of powers in the Parliament Buildings.

Acclamations were accorded Mrs. Frank Osborne as first vice-president and A. R. Sherwood as second vice-president, the third vice-presidency being won by A. Campbell in competition with W. H. Hadley and H. Holmes. Col. A. W. Woods and W. H. Hadley were named members of the executive committee.

A. H. Spurr was unanimously re-elected as secretary-treasurer, and accorded rounds of applause. His financial report showed a cash balance on hand of $238.13 and earned a unanimous vote of thanks.

DICKIE URGES JOB-HUNTERS TO BE PATIENT

Saanich Conservatives Told Place Making Is a Very Hard Task

If Conservatives Ever Win Federal Election He Worries Over Finding Enough Jobs

C. H. Dickie, M.P., last night addressed the Saanich Conservative Association's annual meeting at the Campbell Building, asserting that Hon. R. E. Bennett had revived Conservatism in Vancouver Island by his recent tour.

Mr. Dickie forecasted an adverse balance of trade for Canada for the coming year, "due to our assinine policy of buying aboard. Those people south of the line laugh at us," he asserted.

The Liberal Government had been spending money to curry favor with the three western provinces, but were aghast at the recent defection of Saskatchewan from Liberalism. "We are going to make surprising gains for Conservatism at the next Federal election, especially in Quebec," he prophesied.

Mr. Dickie protested circulation of stories reflecting on the integrity of Dr. Tolmie and Hon. R. H. Pooley. He attributes this campaign to Liberal sources, but pointed out that while Conservative workers were entitled to consideration, place could not be found for all applicants.

GIVE TOLMIE CHANCE
"Give them time, do not damn them with faint praise." It was our pleadings at Kamloops which put Dr. Tolmie as Conservative leader. Give him a chance. Pay no attention to the Liberals. In a year or two things will be better. No government can satisfy all people."

"Support for a moment that the Conservative party wins the next Federal election. Just imagine the flood of demands for positions which would at once shower on my head. I say frankly that I would not be able to fulfill all those demands. It would make my heart bleed to have to overlook many, but it would have to be done. The Tolmie administration has been in just such a position," Mr. Dickie pointed out.

"A government must be swayed to

CONSERVATIVES PASS VOTE OF SYMPATHY

The Saanich Conservative Association last night passed a standing resolution of condolence with Mrs. H. Burns upon the recent death of her husband, the late Harry Burns, and ordered a letter of sympathy to be forwarded to the bereaved family. Mrs. Burns has been prominent in Saanich Conservative circles for many years.

to a certain extent by public opinion, but it is also a function of a Government to sway public opinion. Being a politician is no way to make money. It is a hard, hard task, and it makes me tired to hear so many complaints from the disappointed. Give them time, he appealed. "Coming upon the appointment of General A. D. McRae as Conservative organizer, Mr. Dickie appealed to all loyal party workers to forget his defection and leadership of factional fighting in provincial affairs some years ago. No matter what his ambitions may be, he is playing the game. I care not what the bell may be made or so long as it rings true," he advised.

PEACE DISTRICT IS MARVELOUS SAYS GADDES

Colonization Commissioner Back in Victoria After Trip Through Country

"It is a marvelous country. I had heard much about it, but what I saw surprised me. We should know far more about it than we do," declared Dr. W. B. Gaddes, Provincial Colonization Commissioner, who is in Victoria to-day after a trip through the Peace River country with Hon. William Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture.

Mr. Atkinson stopped off at Kamloops on his way to the Coast and is expected home Saturday. Gaddes is preparing his report to the Cabinet and will present it to the Cabinet shortly. Details will have to be made public by the Cabinet, he intimated.

Threshing was well on the way to completion throughout the Peace region when they were there, Dr. Gaddes reported. With Mr. Atkinson he saw one field of the 1000 acres that turned out 100 bushels of wheat to the acre. They penetrated as far as the Fort St. John country, north of the Peace, passing through Pouce Coupe and Rolla.

The British Columbia section is generally better land than that farther east, Dr. Gaddes decided.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)
Winnipeg, Oct. 9—Wheat: Strong tables with Liverpool 1 1/2 to 1% higher, combined with a fairly good business export overnight with sales of Manitoba bushels, gave our market a strong opening this morning, prices advancing from 1 to 1 1/2 above the previous close with some excellent buying in evidence.

Offerings were fairly liberal on the advance with longs taking profits some hedging pressure and later the pool were rather heavy sellers of October, with the result that the demand became filled up and the market eased away, finally losing all of the early advance. It was not known just what the pool were doing, but many believed that they had taken back from the papers and exporters against sales of cash wheat, but it gave the market a heavy appearance the last half of the day and brought out further liquidation.

There was a good trade in cash wheat on the local market, mostly in No. 5 and 6, overnight acceptances being very good. There was a better feeling all around and recent spreads are likely to be maintained if the futures hold steady. It would be that the big interests prefer to see the market hold steady, but not advance for the time being, or until part of the very large stocks have been sold for export.

Liverpool weakened near the close and finished 1/2 to 1% higher, while Buenos Ayres at midday was unchanged to 1% higher. Would continue purchases to date. Futures closed 1/2 to 1 higher with short covering during the final moments, due to the unfavorable official report from Argentina.

Coarse grains: There was very little doing in the coarse grains again today. Eastern Canada continues to take small quantities of low grade oats but there was nothing doing in barley or rye and no export business in any of the coarse grains. Rye follows the trend of wheat.

Flax: Continues dull with a little easier tone, closing prices 1/2 to 1% lower, no feature.

High Grade Bonds Creep Higher

New York, Oct. 9.—With time money showing an easier undertone, bond prices crept higher in to-day's early trading. An increased demand was noted for obligations of high grade, while numerous obligations of speculative appeal, aside from the convertibles, also attracted attention.

Atchison general 4% rising half a point to the previous 4% in some time. Miscellaneous issues, especially of strength included Standard Oil of New Jersey 5%, Missouri Pacific general 4%, St. Paul 5%, American Smelting and Refining 5% and Southern Railway 6 1/2%. Indiana Limestone 6%; Illinois Steel 6 1/2%; New Orleans Terminal 4% and Illinois Coal 4% also advanced.

Convertible were mostly American Telephone 4 1/2% and Atchison 4 1/2% dropping about two points. Both issues of Allegheny Corporation 4% lost nearly a point.

The new Texas Corporation convertible fifteen-year 5% traded on a wide market basis were quoted about a point above the offering price of 88 1/2.

United States Government securities were slightly higher and foreign obligations displayed a better tone.

The Texas Corporation $100,000,000 issue swelled the total of new offerings to the largest in several months for a single day. Other new bond issues included an $11,000,000 issue of Walberg-Astoria convertible first mortgage leasehold twenty-five years with warrants, at 103, and $5,000,000 Pough Sound Power & Light Company first mortgage fifteen-year 5 1/2% at 97 1/2.

ment and with the reluctance to take an aggressive bull stand until the new crop movement is over, we look for a two-sided market.

Other price movements were slow and there was little feature to the market. Prices were affected by the weakness in corn. Cash sales were fair. Receipts at western points running much larger than a year ago. We see no wear in the oats position, outside of a scarcity of elevator room and on any decline with corn, should a market be bought.

Rye: Was in fair demand at times with some foreign buying of deferred months. On the dips, there appeared to be good support in this grain.

WHITNEY LETTER

By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited

New York, Oct. 9.—Whitney of the Wall Street Financial Bureau says to-day:

"You were advised yesterday a moderate reaction was due for a twofold reason, first, the extent of the 'ally and necessary' internal fundamental influence.

While yesterday's market was reactionary to the extent that the industrial averages showed a moderate decline for the day and that a number of issues which had been market features in the past two market sessions demonstrated an inability to make additional gains, the way in no sense of the word a weak market, and since nothing other than technicalities are involved in the temporary halt which came exactly at a time when it was to be expected. We can look upon it as just a momentary 'hesitation' which I believe will end before noon to-day. With this in view, would continue the policy of using the reaction to buy stocks, particularly in the oil and rail groups.

"Confident that the September reaction is definitely at an end, and that the trend of the market remains upward. Credit strain appears definitely a thing of the past, with not only 'easy' money conditions, but what is much more significant, a definite and substantial easing in time, money rates.

"I expect before the middle of the month that the manufacturers will follow the lead of the tobacco manufacturers by announcing an advance in tire prices. Likewise, expect crude rubber to start upward. I believe the market to be the chief beneficiary of this development in view of its large inventory and control of crude rubber through its plantations.

"This two point dip in both Royal Dutch and Standard Oil of New Jersey registers about all the reaction which will be witnessed, so use this technical reinforcement as a spot to buy the stocks and await new records. Likewise, continue the purchase of Standard of New York, Pan American, Standard of the recommended American Bank Note which was on the features of yesterday's market should be bought or held, as this is a $200 stock in the making, and one which will not take long to be made.

"In the oil group continue the purchase of D. & L. W. and hold it for a price of $200. Erie any place below 85, of Canadian Pacific, New Haven and Hartford and Pennsylvania.

"In the industrial Pullman is a pure play, and hold it for a price of $100. Johns Manville below 200, Columbian Graphophone in the 50's, Colorado Fuel and Iron in the 60's, United Fruit below 120, and Gold Dust in the low 60's."

"In the rail group continue the purchase of Erie, and hold it for a price of $200, Erie any place below 85, of Canadian Pacific, New Haven and Hartford and Pennsylvania.

"Electric Storage Battery is being bought by banking interests on the expectation of the declaration of a sizeable extra dividend."

SHOR'S SELLING AGAIN

New York, Oct. 9.—The World to-day reported that Shor's had been a recurrence of short selling, accounted by the old theory that a secondary reaction is logical at this stage of the movement.

MAKES MONEY ON BREAK

New York, Oct. 9.—The New York American to-day declares that the ability of American International's management was demonstrated during the recent collapse in stock prices, and that the liquidating value of the common stock actually increased last week

PROFIT-TAKING SLOWS UP RISE; NAT. BISCUIT AND TIMKEN RUN UP FAST

New York, Oct. 9.—At the close this afternoon, Dow Jones average of thirty industrials stood at 246.60, up 1.60 points for the day; and for twenty rails at 174.49, off .25 points for the day.

Timken was a bull leader, rising from 118% to a new record high at 130.

Industrial Alcohol rose from 224% to a new record high at 233%.

National Biscuit went up seven points to a new high at 234%. Profit-taking came into Eastern Motorway, with the stock being driven down from 287% to 247 and closing around 251.

Motors showed no life on the upside and Brockway and Graham Paige sank to new low levels for the year.

Efforts of the market to rise much were blocked by increased profit-taking.

New York, Oct. 9.—Wall Street to-day issued the following to its clients:

"The speed with which the rally from the lows of last Friday has progressed has brought some profit-taking into the market and this is to be seen. Long time brokers is a big factor in the present market, and there already is quite a bit of discussion about what will be shown to-morrow.

"There is a belief that the drop in loans will not be as big as expected.

"More is being heard regarding the so-called chemical groups, called to your attention on Saturday. Many of these issues have advanced quite sharply this week. Switching into this group is quite notable. The chemicals are scheduled to be big factors in the market when it gets back to an even keel.

"Seaboard Air Line issues are extremely well bought. These stocks can be considered in about the same position as the St. Pauls when they came out of receivership. Seaboard common is scheduled to sell up around 23.

"Electric Storage Battery is being bought by banking interests on the expectation of the declaration of a sizeable extra dividend."

A MAN WHO LIKES HIS JOB

Used to be Depressed
and Lifeless

UNTIL HIS WIFE
SUGGESTED KRUSCHEN

Here is a young man who is bound to succeed, because when bound to a pleasure it is properly done, and work properly done leads to success. Yet not long ago he nearly fell asleep over his job. His wife saw what was wrong—he thanks her for the tip.

"I used to suffer with constipation; and after taking Epsom salts or senna tea I used to suffer with colds, so my wife suggested I should take Kruschen, and I have not regretted it since, as before taking Kruschen I used to be depressed and lifeless, and did not care whether I worked or went to sleep; but now, and ever since I started to take Kruschen, work and life is a pleasure to me."

By preventing constipation, Kruschen ensures the complete and regular elimination of all poisonous waste matter. It thus maintains a pure, vigorous blood-stream, which carries health and happiness to the whole body—riding and destroying the germs of colds, influenza, and other diseases as soon as they enter the system. Let Kruschen keep you fit and fortified against colds the long winter through.

Kruschen is a perfect blend of six natural mineral salts which we all need every day: (i) to help the liver and kidneys to perform their natural duties in a natural way; (ii) to clear away, gently but completely, all the poisonous waste matter that has been clogging the system; (iii) to purify the blood. The analysis is on the bottle. There are sodium and magnesium to stimulate the organs of elimination. To feed your tissues there's the tonic potassium. Each "little daily dose" is a full day's supply of these six vital salts; just the right amount to keep your body and mind tuned up to a pitch of real constant fitness.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores by E. Griffiths Hughes, Ltd., Manchester, Eng. (Established 1756). Importers: McMillinray Bros., Ltd., Toronto.

The Innocent Cheat

CHAPTER XXX.

Carmel was in Brent's arms. She had flung herself there before he could stop her. But he was used to her impulsive demonstrations, and generally accepted them without pause.

Now she went a bit farther than usual. She twined her arms around his neck, forcing his head down until she could press her lips to his in a lingering caress.

Something of the heat of the fascination she had always held for him stole over her. She emitted a little smile with a touch of gusto that filled the heart of the watching girl with loathing for the whole situation.

Carmel made the most of her opportunity and did not let him go until he explained the scene away as just a little meeting between old friends.

Then he saw Helen.

Carmel released him and stepped aside to allow him to enter the living-room. On her face was the famous smile of the canary-fed cat.

For a moment, when Brent's eyes took in the erect figure of the girl, his eyes blazed at him with utter scorn. He too stood still, silent in his consternation.

Helen made the first move. She flung out a hand as though she pushed away an encroaching danger, and started toward him, to pass through the doorway where he stood to get at the outer door.

Brent held her by the shoulders and held her with a grip that hurt. Behind him he could hear Carmel's soft laughter as she vanished down the hall to another room.

"Helen," he cried, "wait, dear, wait!"

Helen looked at him with an expression that would have shrivelled his pride had he not been of the kind that could be shrivelled.

"I won't let you go until you hear me," Brent went on, and Helen knew that truth lay behind his words. She could, of course, wrench herself away by force and rush from the apartment without giving him a chance to offer a defence of his conduct, but her courage failed her.

After all, she too had kissed someone else. And while she had still been engaged to Leonard, Her sense of fairness compelled her to curb her outraged pride and try to become calm enough to listen to him.

A shock that he might be in a position similar to her own caused her to bring him an immensely quieting effect. How simple that would be if he were in love with this other woman!

Brent was somewhat dazed by the smile she turned upon him. The chameleon-like change in her confused him. But his hands did not slip from her shoulders until she said that they had best have a talk and turned back to the living-room.

He let her go then and followed, to take a seat beside her on the pale green leather divan. He let her start the conversation.

"I'm sorry. I intruded upon a date," she said, a little stiffly, "but you probably won't have any trouble fixing it up."

She opened her bag and brought out the engagement ring that he had given her. "This will convince her that there's nothing between us any more," she added, holding out the ring to Brent.

He took her hand instead and curled her fingers over the flashing gem. "Let me explain," he begged; "you mustn't judge me unfairly."

Carmel drew her hand away and laid the ring on the stand beside Carmel's cigarette holder.

"It wouldn't do any good to explain, even if you could," she said quietly; "for I came here to ask you to release me from our engagement."

"Yes," Brent admitted, his fear of softening the blow was gone as he let go of her growing upon him with alarming conviction.

"Because I love someone else," Helen answered, feeling she had a right to direct with him. The necessity for softening the blow was gone as she saw it, and she was glad that it was.

Brent did not shrink from it as he would have done had he loved her, but he was dissembler enough to force a good imitation of pain into his expression.

Helen waited, but he said nothing. There was only an intake of breath in her lips, and then groups to tell her how her words had hurt.

"I'm sorry," she said suddenly, "that we made such a mistake, but we can be thankful for the rest of our lives that we discovered in time that it is a mistake."

Brent answered now with great feeling. "I haven't made a mistake," he declared. "I love you, Helen, and you alone in all the world."

"Please, please, Leonard. Remember what I said!"

"Oh, my dear, if you only understood!" Brent cried, with the helplessness in his voice that would feel in facing the necessity of explaining his position to a child.

"I'd rather not," Helen replied coldly. "Besides, it is useless."

"You can't break off with me this way," Brent told her firmly. He got to his feet and stood looking down at her, as though he weighed the risk he would take in what he means to do next. Dared he leave her alone a moment?

"Will you wait here until I ask Mr. Segro to leave us alone?" he said with such dejection and helplessness in his voice that Helen was unable to refuse his request.

She nodded her head in assent, wishing she could have been harder toward him.

"He did not waste time. In a moment he had joined Carmel. "Get out," he said without preliminary courtesies. She laughed at him. "Much dam-ageous," Brent threatened.

"That little sap?" Carmel sneered.

"Burry," Brent told her. Carmel was convinced that he was in earnest.

"Get rid of her soon," she commanded.

Brent surveyed her from under lowered lids. "Can't you get it through your head that all you will ever dig out of me is a little money? Carmel! And that's off when you carry things too far."

"Well, what do you mean by starting something with a high-hat kid like that Carmel came back. She was still smarting over her failure to upset Helen's poise."

"That's my affair," Brent replied with a finality that closed the argument for the time being.

Carmel left him and stalked into the living-room to get her things. Helen did not look at her, although she tried for a change to sit in the chair.

When the front door closed behind her Brent came back to Helen and seated himself beside her once more.

"Now my dear," he said with a frankness that I deplore, but which is absolutely necessary."

"Helen's eyes asked him why.

"Because you don't know anything about the world you are living in," he said, answering their unspoken question. "You are dear and sweet and straightforward; without the complexities that are bothering most members of your sex to-day, but your difference has unfitted you to judge a modern man."

"Don't preach to me," Helen protested. She realized that she had given him an advantage in consenting to listen to him but had no intention of letting him make unfair use of it. "You should have thought of what I might have done if you had something you must have known you never could explain to me."

"Explain!" Brent answered impatiently. "My dear girl, that is the crux of the whole matter. I can't explain—not to a girl like you. I am only beg you to forgive me. I am a man, Helen, not a callow kid. I've got to tell you, but I can't tell you all and done with it. You at least didn't mean a thing. A woman I know I've known for years; she's kiss me just as readily at Times Square."

Helen smiled, thinking, but not caring after you have fallen down, and Mr. Longares was a lucky rabbit. He tried to walk up the needle slide hill but he could not, for it was too slippery.

"This will be some fun for the children," said Mr. Longares.

If you have ever been in the pine woods you know what a needle slide is. But if you haven't I'll tell you. On pine trees grow long, thin silvers of green, which are really leaves, but which are called "pine needles," which are long and thin and really sharp on the point."

Now when these pine needles fall off the tree to the ground they turn brown and they make a very slippery place on which to slide. Or, if you don't watch yourself, you may slide so suddenly and that is a slip. That's what Uncle Wiggily did.

He didn't get hurt and when he picked him up he found he had dug in and brushed some of the pine needles off his clothes he thought he would go to his bungalow and, if the children were home from school, he would bring them to the needle slide and let them have fun.

Thinking happy, jolly thoughts, Uncle Wiggily did not pay much heed to anything around him until, all of a quickness, he heard a rustling in the bushes and looking quickly he saw the Bob Cat staring at him most impolitely.

"I all know it is impolite to stare, but when a Bob Cat stares at a rabbit he is even more than impolite. He is impolite."

"But you aren't going to eat me now," cried Uncle Wiggily and away he ran off to the left.

"I'll get you!" howled the Bob Cat and he broke through the bushes and also ran to the left.

Then Uncle Wiggily turned and ran to the right. But the Bob Cat did the same and came on after the rabbit, who was still running, and the Bob Cat ran to the left.

"I guess I'd better run straight ahead," thought Uncle Wiggily, as he looked behind him and still saw the bad chap coming on. "I may get to my bungalow before he catches me."

"Run faster, and Uncle Wiggily ran as fast as he could until soon he found himself back at the place of the Christmas trees and the pine needle hill. Then a new thought came to the rabbit.

"Must be I can fool this Bob Cat!" he whimpered.

At the top of the slippery pine needle hill Uncle Wiggily suddenly stopped and hid behind a tree. On came the Bob Cat, but he didn't stop. He couldn't. He was running so fast. And he didn't know that just ahead of him was a very slippery place.

Bob Cat of a sudden his paws landed on the bottom pine needle and then the Bob Cat kind of the slippery place was there. For he slid down, turning over and over, bumping his nose and banging his ears and rattling his teeth until when he landed ker flop on the bottom of the hill the breath was knocked out of him.

"Oh, what a fall!" howled the Bob Cat as he picked himself up and limped away. And Uncle Wiggily came out of the bush at the top of the slippery needle slide and laughed: "Ha! Ha!"

Next day the bunny children played on the needle slide. And if the apple dumpling will stop jumping out of the oven to tickle the ice box I'll tell you next a'out Uncle Wiggily and Jackie's wings.

Uncle Wiggily's Needle Slide

While hopping through the woods one day, Uncle Wiggily all of a sudden came to a place where there was a little hill with green trees growing on it.

"Ah ha!" said the rabbit gentleman to himself as he came to a stop at the top of the hill. "These are Christmas trees! It will soon be Christmas and time to bring them to my bungalow and hang presents on them for my little boys and girls. What lovely Christmas trees!"

But Uncle Wiggily was a widow, so he had no little boys and girls. "I'll bring them to my bungalow and hang presents on them for my little boys and girls. What lovely Christmas trees!"

"Well, what do you mean by starting something with a high-hat kid like that Carmel came back. She was still smarting over her failure to upset Helen's poise."

DOROTHY DIX

TO MARRY, or not to marry? That is the question, that this complicated modern life of ours puts up to many young women and they do not know how to answer it, nor which way their happiness lies.

Of course, if the girl is very much in love the problem automatically settles itself. She loves her man and lets the consequences be what they may. She knows that life with him may be full of hardships, but without him it will be cinders, ashes and dust, and so for her "no" is marriage or nothingness.

But very often the girl is not the victim of the grand passion. She likes, admires and esteems some men who wants to marry her, but she is not in love with him. He isn't in any way necessary to her well being. She could take him or leave him, as the saying goes; and then it is that she begins to debate the question whether she will be happier married or single.

She is around the thirties and she realizes that it is now or never with her, and that not only with every year will her chances of marrying grow slimmer, but that she herself will have less inclination to marry because she will settle more deeply into habits and ways that she will not want to break for any man.

She finds life very pleasant as it is. She earns a good salary. She is interested in her work and it fills her life agreeably. She has many pleasant friends and is welcomed in society. Above all, she has her liberty, her latchkey, her own pocketbook, the right to come and go unquestioned, and nobody with whose whims and tempers she has to put up. It is a nice, tight, snug, safe life, with her own ego the centre of it.

Moreover, as she looks around at her married sisters she sees little to envy in their lots. There is Mary who gave up being a highly paid secretary to become a kitchen drudge, with no salary envelope at the end of the week. There is Kitty, who used to be so high-spirited and gay, whose matrimony has turned into a pulled-down, subdued woman, with fretful and crying children hanging on to her skirts.

There is independent Sally, who rushes home in the middle of a bridge game because she is terrified of the thought of being a wife and master if his dinner shouldn't be smoking on the table when he returns. There is poor little Mary, who watches nights after nights for the drag of a drunken step, and Jenny, who eats her heart out with jealousy over the love affairs of a philanderer.

All of these women work harder than they did in the office or the store before they were married, and they are shabbier and have less money to spend on themselves than they did when they were single. They look older. They are more depressed. They are less alert, have less pep than their unmarried sisters, and so it is no wonder that the bachelorette asks herself whether she will be happier married or single.

If she were overwhelmingly in love. If she were going to marry a Fairy Prince. Then nobody questions that the girl has been kissed by Lady Luck herself who gets a husband who is devoted, faithful, tender, kind, and who is able to provide comfortably for her family, but how about giving up a good job to marry a man who is selfish, high-tempered and grumpy, who will never be understanding or sympathetic, and who will never make enough money to more than keep the wolf a jump or two from the door?

No wonder the women of thirty debate long and earnestly the question of whether she shall marry or not.

A long time ago a cynical wit said that whether one married or not one always regretted it. This is particularly true of women whose lives are much more profoundly affected by marriage than men's are, but, on the whole, I think that women are happier married than single, even when their marriages are not very successful. They are better off, even though they are worse off, if you get what I mean.

Leaving out of this discussion the primal urge to mate that is part of every woman's being, and the desire for her man, her child and her home that is an instinctive longing in every woman's heart, there is some emotional quality in women that they must spend upon others, or else they do not find life worth living. Both this up in them and it fills them with ferment of discontent.

Certainly the woman who never marries plays safe. She escapes many of the hardships, many of the sufferings, most of the sacrifices that the wife and mother is called upon to make, but even so, she realizes that she has also missed much that the married woman has had, and that she has only slipped at the froth on the cup of life. She has not drunk it to its dregs. She has been on the outside of things. Not at the centre.

We often see men who are sufficient unto themselves and who seem satisfied with the casual contacts with their fellow creatures that business and society bring them, but that is never enough for a woman. She wants love. She wants to feel herself necessary to others. She wants some one on whom she can expend herself. Some one for whom she can do things and whose happiness and comfort lies in her hands, and she can only find this in the closeness of the family circle.

Moreover, the one thing that women salvage out of even unhappy marriages is their children. The love that their husbands did not inspire, or that their husbands trampled in the dust, they can lavish on their children. They are forced to be the ones who tried to supply their children give them. The wounds their husbands' hands do to their children's hands heal. And so the poorest mother, who works her fingers to the bone for her children, has a stake in life, a zest, a hope, a reason for living that the richest old maid has not.

It is because women have an eternal need of some one to love, some one to cherish, some one to serve, and because God made woman's arms take instinctively the form of a cradle, and the hollow of her breast for a baby's head to lie in, that women are happier married than single.

Young Musician Played Only "Grown-Up" Music

When he was ten years old, Charles Saint Saens, a French lad, gave a piano concert in Paris, and was hailed a fine musician. He had played the piano ever since his chubby fingers could reach over the keys. He had always played grown-up pieces. The little melodies written for children to play never appealed to him.

One day a visitor to the school called to see his mother and who heard the boy play, declared that she didn't think such a small boy should be allowed to play the works of the great masters of music.

"That is what he likes to play," the mother defended.

"But if he plays such music now," said the visitor, "what will he play when he is twenty?"

"When he is twenty," replied the mother proudly, "he will play his own music."

The mother's words came true. Saint Saens, born October 9, 1835, became a great composer. Among other things he wrote the very famous opera "Samson and Delilah."

To-morrow's Horoscope

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1929

This is an uncertain or disturbed day in planetary direction, according to astrologers. At this time, when the lighter interests of life claim attention to the exclusion of serious matters, it is not an auspicious day for soliciting loans or for doing business with banks or bankers. It is forebode of disappointment to all

even to bankers.

It is well not to trust one's judgment under this direction of the stars, for the restoration to the highest standards is to be, to mark tremendous achievements. Those who seek employment may find disappointment in their quest while this configuration dominates, but the general situation in the business world promises much for all who have training and ability.

The evening offers brilliant promises to those who are ambitious to the public.

Theatres should be well attended.

Promise of the rise of artists who will restore the stage to its former standard.

Wedding solemnized late to-day have the best possible aspects and should assure happy years to those who make vows under this day.

The evening is read as a lucky day for entering into marriage engagements. Confidence is indicated.

Woman should be subject to the most inspiring and stimulating vibrations. They will be fortunate in sports, but they are to win their true place in the serenity of home, however, which love rules the scene.

The stars promise that musical geniuses will be ambitious and temperamental. The subjects of the year 1929 generally make the most of opportunity that comes to them.

Benjamin West, early American painter, was born on this day, 1738. Others who live in the morning.

These conditions, while not serious in themselves, can become so if you do not take steps to overcome them.

AT THE THEATRES

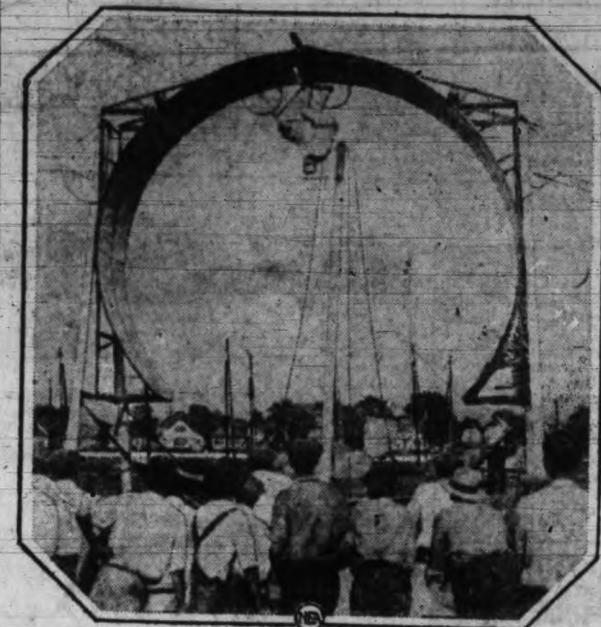

ROMANTIC SOUTH SHOWN IN FILM AT THE COLISEUM

All the glamor and romance of the old south in the days before the Civil War are contained in this picture, "Hearts of Dixie," the all-singing, all-talking and dancing film which is the feature screen attraction at the Coliseum Theatre this week, where so far it has been favorably received by large audiences.

The Mississippi's famous show boats are seen in this splendid picture and their warning whistles are heard as in reality over the new talkie machine recently installed at the Coliseum. The feature screen attraction at the Coliseum Theatre this week, where so far it has been favorably received by large audiences.

An entertaining comedy picture and world news completes a splendid program.

AN EASY STUNT—IF YOU DO IT!

Here is a stunt you really ought to try—if you are good on a bicycle. This old familiar looping-the-loop trick on a bicycle was revived at the Wisconsin state fair at Milwaukee by Oscar Balcock—and it proved a thriller for those who saw him riding the peak of the loop, as shown above, of the specially constructed apparatus. Momentum was gained from a ride down an incline not shown above.

OLIVE BORDEN IS LEADING LADY IN PLAYHOUSE STORY

Hugh Trevor, dashing young leading man who plays opposite Olive Borden in "Love in Dixie," is the new attraction at the Playhouse Theatre, used to be an insurance salesman in those days, not so far back before he went into pictures. Now he is beginning to consider that training a valuable asset for the re-creation of hearing for the deaf. The device, "Audiotone," is a talking machine which is better than a dime. Through this device, sounds are clearly and distinctly transmitted to the deaf. The device is intended to help hearing and health alike. The makers offer an absolutely free trial for 10 days to any one person who may be interested, and a letter will bring one of these remarkable aids to your home for a thorough and complete test. Send them your name and address to-day! (Advt.)

LOUISE FAZENDA IN MYSTERY PLAY AT THE COLUMBIA

William V. Mong, hitherto known as a very human character actor of the films, has suddenly become a new and formidable "horror" character specialist. With Louise Fazenda, Chester Conklin and Thelma Todd, he figures prominently in a mysterious character of First National's thriller at the Columbia Theatre, "The House of Horror."

ADAGIO DANCERS ARE FEATURED IN CAPITOL PICTURE

Six adagio dancers, all well known in vaudeville and through their appearance in motion picture houses, contribute their grace and beauty to "Words and Music," Fox Movietone musical picture, at the Capitol Theatre for the last three weeks.

The teams are Vina Gail and Arthur Springer, Helen Hunt and Charles Huff, and Harriet and John Griffith.

All have been featured in Fanchon and Marco productions, and were seen to advantage in the "Pearl of Old Japan" number in the "Fox Movietone" picture, 1929.

Charles Huff, known as one of the greatest acrobatic dancers in America, teamed with Miss Hunt, has appeared in many vaudeville theatres of the American continent. Harriet and John Griffith are sisters and brother and have toured extensively.

GRIPPING MYSTERY PICTURE FEATURE AT THE DOMINION

In the brief experience of directors and technicians with the new audible screen, it has been demonstrated that players who have had a speaking or career hold advantages over their brethren who have played only pantomime.

This is true also in the writing field, it develops, as authors who have had long experience in both stage and screen work, and Clarke Silvernail, approach the task of adapting a novel with a surety born of long association.

Silvernail, who wrote the adaptation of "Behind That Curtain," now at the Dominion, Fox Movietone all-talking production from the Earl Derr Biggers story of the same title, has been on the stage since his graduation from Dr. Vetsch College, Lewiston, N.Y. Even there he took part in amateur theatricals.

His most recent stage appearance before singing with Fox Movietone was in "Son and Daughter," "White Collar," "Rust," "Fashions For Men," "Silent House" and "Non Herbert."

LAUDER CONCERTS ARE ATTRACTIVE

Famous Comedian Will Give
Three Concerts Here Next Week

The engagement of Sir Harry Lauder, the international entertainer, who comes to the Royal Theatre next Monday and Tuesday, with a matinee Tuesday, will be a most interesting event. The noted Scot comes direct from New Zealand, where he recently closed a very successful Antipodean trip, and then sailed direct for San Francisco. Sir Harry Lauder's American manager, Mr. Morris, Lauder's American manager, has arranged a two-weeks' vacation for the famous singer, and this means a hurried departure for the Canadian Rockies and delightful days of recreation, hunting and fishing in the wilds, as a preliminary to opening his new season.

It is rather remarkable how much of the world Sir Harry has been able to cover. Literally, since his way around the globe. Whether in India, South Africa, the Straits Settlements, Australasia, Hawaii, Canada or the United States, he always finds great audiences eager to see and hear him. His song characterizations apparently have an appeal that is well-nigh universal.

MADE DEBUT HERE

Naturally, many of Sir Harry's warmest friends and admirers are on this side of the globe, for it was in the United States and Canada that he won his first artistic triumphs outside of Scotland and England.

Thousands of Canadians and other thousands whose families and traditions lead them back to former days in the British Isles, hail a Lauder engagement as one of the most important of the year's events in the theatre.

During his absence from these shores Sir Harry's musical muse was busy, for he composed a number of characteristic songs which he will offer here for the first time during his local engagement.

They are said to be built along typical Lauder lines, with verse and melody and story all entertainingly mingled in the real Lauder style. A very welcome revival of the popular old songs is also promised. Sir Harry's company of musicians is credited with being far above the average this season.

Great Lakes Ships Loaded With Grain Tie Up For Winter

Sarnia, Ont., Oct. 9.—The Lemoyne, one of the Canada Steamship Lines' largest grain vessels on the Great Lakes, tied up for the winter here yesterday, fully a month in advance of the first storage vessel of last year.

The steamer has half a million bushels of wheat on board, to be held over until spring for delivery.

Elevator officials declared the existing situation in the Canadian grain trade would result in earlier suspension of vessel movements and other steamers are expected here for storage in the next few days.
